To whom it may concern,

I was instantly drawn to your job position of being a real estate agent and I believe that my abilities, dedication, and problem solving skills would be ideal for a job position. This would be an important opportunity for me to be an asset to your company.

I graduated from University of California Santa Barbara in 2016, earning my bachelors degree in business. I then discovered your company with real estate and had to have an opportunity with your company to apply for the job title.

I would bring my skills to further benefit your company, making it even more productive than it already is. I am eager to join a company where I can refine my problem solving, learning and growing with an associate. I work well with others and get along easily with other members in the company. I look forward to meeting you. Thank you in advance for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Derek Nguyen
